

Turkey a symbol of Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving and good cheer are symbolized by the American turkey, which name was probably derived from its call, "turk-turk-turk." A native of North and Central America, it was domesticated by the Incas, Aztecs and North American Indians. It was introduced into Europe in 1530 by the explorer, Vasco da Gama, from Mexico and brought back to the United States on the Mayflower as a domesticated fowl.

In its wild state the game bird provided food for the early settlers on New England's rugged coast. It was a bird of the forests, hiding in the undergrowth in the day and roosting in the tree tops at night. It would come into the clearings only to feed, scratching on the ground for seeds, nuts and insects, and picking berries from low bushes.

Our domesticated turkey is derived from the Mexican variety and probably mixed with the northern bird. It is but little modified from the wild state and is

POWELL IS CROWNED PRINCESS

Virginia Powell, Greek candidate, was crowned Homecoming Princess for 1944 during intermission at the all-student Homecoming dance Friday evening, Nov. 17, in the university auditorium.

Six Feathers who formed a guard for the princess during the coronation were Wilma Cruz, Jean Holland, Mary Alice Johnson, Janice Rodman, Mrs. Margaret Schleh and Agnes Stephenson.

Under a double spotlight, the princess, dressed in Indian costume and carrying a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, walked down the center of the auditorium towards the stage with Frances Martin, her attendant, preceding her. Miss Powell mounted the steps and knelt before Adele Pangle, Student Council president, who crowned her in the absence of President Rowland Haynes, who was unable to officiate because of illness. Virginia Hefflinger presented the princess with a bracelet, given on behalf of the student body.

After the coronation, the princess sat in the president's chair, converted into a throne for the occasion. There was one dance in her honor.

The balcony was open to spectators until after the coronation, and many parents attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Stageman, Dr. and Mrs. John L. Stipp and Mr. and Mrs. E. Hale Sinnott were chaperones. Dean John W. Lucas also attended.

Dorothy Drishaus was in charge of the coronation. Other Student Council members on the committee were Virginia Hefflinger, Jean Leimbach and Stuart Borg.

Allabelle Hunter played the march for the coronation, and Irma Grace Fuller beat the tom-tom.

Magazines to be in student lounge

Life, Time, and Mademoiselle magazines and the Omaha World-Herald are to be placed in the student lounge soon by the Student Council.

Money for the subscriptions, which will run for one year, was appropriated from the student activities fund.

GIVE TO 6TH WAR LOAN NOW

University of Omaha students, faculty and staff will strive to top their previous records in the sixth war loan drive now under way. The drive will continue until Dec. 16.

"No definite goal has been set," said E. M. Hosman, chairman of the drive committee, "but we raised $4,960.73 in the summer drive and should be able to surpass that."

Sororities and Independents will select candidates to run for "Sweetheart of Sixth," to be elected by the sale of war stamps and bonds. A 25 cent stamp gives one vote; a $25 bond, 100 votes. The candidates will be introduced at the dance tomorrow afternoon in the auditorium.

Books on governors presented to library

"Messages and Proclamations of the Governors of Nebraska, 1854-1941," was given to the University of Omaha library last week by the Nebraska Historical society.

This four-volume set, giving background, pictures, and addresses of all the Nebraska governors from Francis Burt, 1854, to our present governor, Dwight Griswold, was published as a report of the Works Projects administration.

Student Directories will be ready soon

Omaha university's 1944-45 Student Directory will be ready for distribution soon, according to George Reinhardt, business manager of student publications.

Names, addresses and telephone numbers of about 447 day students and more than 700 adult education students will be listed. Contents will remain about the same as last year. Independent and Chemistry groups were not organized in time for listing the personnel, but Pre-medics will be listed for the first time.

Specifications have already been issued and 1,000 books ordered.

The cover for the 1944-45 edition was designed by members of the advertising class this semester.

Former students now overseas will receive Gateways

Five hundred former students now serving with the armed forces overseas as well as 400 former students in the United States will receive copies of the Gateway, which are being mailed this week, it was announced Friday by Adele Pangle, president of the Student Council.

The student activity fee will provide for the first class mailing charges overseas, which makes it possible for former students on foreign duty to receive these papers for the first time.

Three issues at one time will be sent overseas, and four issues will go at once to the service men and women in the states.

How green is our campus

James McCauley

A VERY THANKLESS GIVING was observed Thursday by students from CB . . . fact that their state noted the holiday then made little difference at OU. Chuck Hays, Saddle Vanderpool and Betty Bonson were among the ones to swap a turkey dinner for a cafeteria sandwich—just so that they can live "where the tall corn grows."

QUESTIONS THE PROFS CAN'T ANSWER—What Sorty had to carry home what pledgy at 4 p. m., NOT A. M., the other day? What happens when DJ and H'coming date stop for red light at Saddle Creek Blvd. and Dodge streets? How green is our campus?—an answer from Don Nielsen on this one: "It isn't very d—green!"

What Jerry Parks does evenings? Everyone knows he sleeps during the day—in the student lounge. Why Misses BB and JF hid from JS and BC on a recent hay rack ride?

GREEN SPLASHINGS— . . . understand Wally Street and Bob Johnson have been carrying on an intimate correspondence with FDR. In latest greeting, Franky URGED them to come and see him . . . Biggest war hoop heard around the campus since an OU Indian scalped his last white man came from Stuart Borg recently when he learned he ended up on the other side of his physical science class's delinquency list. If one of those radio network musical shows asks OU to pick our five tune favorites, I'll wager 10-1 that "Super-Suds" gets number one billing.

OUR EXCLUSIVE EXPOSE of straw wasters in the cafeteria netted these results: (1) Any students who formerly used one straw switched over to two because they realized it was the thing to do. (2) The ensuing shortage last week hit a new crisis. Coca Cola drinkers were puffing through Pepsi Cola straws. It's a hard war!

FROSH QUOTES—Doc Wardle: (after passing back frosh Eng. class assignm't) "There were all sorts of ways to violate this assignment, and you seemed to have found all of them." Don Kernin asked us to advertise: "Wanted—one good looking girl with late model car and C card."

RUMOR THIS WEEK has it that the already-slim cafeteria pie is going to get trimmed again—the cafeteria may have to pay salary of bus boy—unless we students start carrying our own trays and dishes back to the counter.

WHEN LARRY OSBORNE offers a cigaret to a school chum, he doesn't take any chances. He

FLUFF AND STUFF

As the dean said as she saw the freshman fall dead in the hall: "That's the trouble with freshmen—they never come back for their sophomore year." But being noble frosh, back we come. No cracks about the irregularity of this column—there's a war on and we're saving the type!

Congrats to Skisnoot Powell who was queen for a night—Homecoming, naturally. And with her was that handsome Capt. Jim Woody, no relation to Herman, however. Ginny was a good choice for queen—even "Bud", the Chicago G.I., is lauding her queenly staturure.

Seen at the brawl were McCauley and Sorenson, McConnelee and Shakey from Burwell, Anna Marie and Harvey, Johnny and Donadean, Donna and Seedy, Adele and Larry, Lois and Ben, Andre and the rest of the fellas. Intermish entertainment was provided with direct quotes from Hamlet and Macbeth. What, no Caesar, and just then they did.

Incidentally, just why was Johnson trying to roll the window up so quickly, and can he prove that statement? Added feature for Homecoming—the elopement of Romeo Borg and Juliet Mayhall. After parading the streets with banners and a "just married" sign, they decided to keep the whole affair a secret, so this 'is strictly between you and us. But we hope Mr. and Mrs. Mayhall will be very happy through all the long years ahead of them.

Welcome home to Dave—even if he did take Pauly away from here—and we're counting the minutes till we can welcome George home, too. And then there's Burf who dropped in the other day for lunch and—that's another story and it wouldn't get through anyhow. We're censored.

Paid political announcement: The Kappas are interested in at least 100 men between the ages of 12 and 44 to chaperuin a party to be held soon. Quote of the week: "But we can't take more than seven couples—it's only a coupe."

And to Andre and Smith goes the academy award for the best act of the year—they worked hard enough for it. By the way, we're not quite sure—it is just an act, isn't it?

The Phi Deltis are still sneezing from breezing it at Brewster a couple weeks ago. The Gammas played with the pack rats last week. Gay, carefree sorority life. And a beautiful bunch of stinkweeds to the Cautious Carries who tied up dates for the Greek dance two months in advance and who won't let the fellas break them, even after they've had a change of heart. This is total war, but, oh!

If Kenny Shupe wants his declaration of independence broadcasted, he can hire a soap box—we don't play it that way, and anyhow he didn't offer to pay us enough. We've gotta make our tuition. And why don't people stop kicking people around when there are lots of footballs around and it's healthier?

And as we close, the Kappas are still trying to trap down their men and are planning a whee of a party. Men are welcomed to crash. Howllllllllll. Afterthought. We're missin' ya, Brad, but lots of luck.

Sociology students attend Sullenger tea

One hundred twenty-five invitations were issued for the informal tea from 3 to 6 yesterday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. T. Earl Sullenger, honoring sociology students at the University of Omaha. Members of Alpha Kappa Delta, honorary sociology fraternity at the university, served as co-hostesses.

Assisting at the tea were Mesdames Ira Jones, C. Evans White, R. J. Maxwell and Misses Anne Ulrich, Lillian Suchy and Lucille Jenkins. Decorations followed the Thanksgiving theme.

has a dead mouse in his pocket that he can dangle in the face of any affirmatively-inclined friend. Margaret Patterson and Vaughn Hazen did say "Yes" the other day, and they got the mouse. Incidentally—they didn't stay around long enough to pick up their cigaret.

Dean Poynter will speak to Pre-meds

Dr. C. W. M. Poynter, dean of the University of Nebraska Medical college, will be guest speaker at the annual Pre-medical club banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30 in the faculty clubroom.

Tickets may be purchased for $1.10 by anyone interested in attending, said Don Nielsen, newly-elected president of the organization. Other officers for the year are Kenneth Shupe, vice president; and Elinor Kay, secretary.

THE WAR AND YOU

Home on leave

Lt. Jack Cresse, a bombardier-navigator in the army air force, has just returned from 16 months of service in the south Pacific. He expects to be in Omaha until the first of next month.

Lt. Lester Sipes, a member of the famed "Ripper Squadron", visited the university last week. Sipes, who has five Jap planes to his credit, has spent 14 months in the south Pacific area flying a Hellcat fighter with the navy air force. He wears ribbons for the D.F.C., the air medal and the presidential unit citation.

Lt. Donald Junge also visited the university last week before reporting to the army air field at Rome, N. Y. Another air force officer visiting last week was Flight Officer Gene Irvine, who was here from his base in Texas.

Special interest

Lt. (j.g.) Edward G. Swain has been named chaplain and welfare officer for the district coast guard office at Cleveland.

Lt. Brian Gunderson, whose job includes dropping psychological propaganda pamphlets over the German lines, was recently interviewed from the American Red Cross Rainbow Corner in London over the BBC program, "The American Eagle in Britain."

Lt. Edgar Kersenbrock has been appointed head of the hand-to-hand department at the pre-flight school at Athens, Ga., instructing naval aviation cadets in combat techniques.

Citations, commissions

Lt. William McOmber, Marauder pilot with the twelfth air force in the Mediterranean area, has been awarded the distinguished unit badge, mark of the highest citation awarded units of the American armed forces. His A. A. F. B-26 Marauder bomber group was cited for "outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy . . . and superior precision bombing made possible through the unstinted effort and superlative performance of duty by every member of the organization."

HA2c Shirley Greenspan of the WAVES is assisting in occupational therapy for patients' rehabilitation at a naval hospital at Seattle, Wash.

Where they are

A. C. Roger Lindblom is at the naval air base at Memphis, Tenn., where he will continue training until Jan. 10.

Lt. Merle Mennie is now stationed at Camp Clauche in New Orleans, La.

Lt. Henry Kampus is with a fighter group in the Netherlands East Indies.

T/Sgt. Perry Rushlau is with the headquarters company at Fort Leavenworth, Kans. His brother, John, a first lieutenant in the army air corps, is with the air transport command overseas.

Letters from the boys

Homer Starr, former Gateway editor now on duty with the Seabees in Hawaii, writes to the staff: "Our unit has been considering having our own newspaper again; so we are investigating this now. The hospital's commanding officer has commended our unit on its work here, and when F. D. R. visited us, he said he was proud of the work the whole hospital staff is doing; so we feel satisfied that we are doing our part. Of course, we could hardly have hoped for an assignment as ideal as this; we have the best climate in the world, no jungle warfare, are near a large and interesting city, and get good mail service to and from the mainland."

Starr is now taking some chemistry courses at the University of Hawaii in his spare time. He adds, "You should see the informality at the U. of Hawaii. Lots of the students of both sexes attend classes barefooted and wearing gaudy sport clothes. While I was there today, a mob of upperclassmen were running about the campus clad only in swim trunks, looking for freshmen to throw into the swimming pool. Most of the professors wear white shirts, but they not only go about sans coat and vest—some stroll about with their sleeves rolled up. Some of the freshman girls, apparently sorority pledges, had to walk around the campus in loud swim suits and propose to a certain number of male strangers."

Basketball team rehearsals start at Underwood

Practice for Omaha university's basketball hopefuls started Monday afternoon at the Underwood high school gymnasium.

Last season the university had six outstanding freshman basketball players, all of whom had seen considerable cage experience in high school. This year, however, only three experienced hands are on deck. They are Ed Kirby, who saw action with last year's Indian quintet; Charles Amidon, a substitute here last year; and Tom Shea, a Central high standout last season.

Others reporting for practice are John Bukacek, Bob Horak, Bill Cunningham, Jack Roy, Wayne Hazelrigg, Dick Reida, Jim McCauley, J. K. Sheridan, Dean Smith, George Reinhardt, Jerry Parks, Paul Suchan, Charles Packe, Mike Kmizuk, James Smith, Wallace Street and Tom Brown.

Anyone interested in playing basketball is urged to see Coach Graydon Ashton as soon as possible.

Independents win

Unaffiliated girls, led by Pansey Crozier, won the intramural soccer tournament by defeating the Phi Deltas 6-0. Outdoor play in hockey also finished up last week.

Intramural volleyball got under way last Thursday and will continue until Christmas vacation.

Dr. Garlough gives illustrated talk at morning convocation

"Tissues—What Are They?" was the title of Dr. Leslie N. Garlough's illustrated talk at convocation Thursday morning at 10 in the auditorium.

Explaining the nature of the four kinds of tissue that appear in the body, Dr. Garlough pointed out the features of the relationship between the structure of the tissues and the job they have to do.

The biology department head explained how slides for microscope study are made and then illustrated his talk with Kodachrome pictures taken through a microscope of the slides.

Independents open membership drive

At the Independents' meeting Monday, Nov. 20, a membership committee was appointed by the acting president, Gloria Shufelt. Morris Kolnick will head the committee, assisted by George Reinhardt, Pat McKean, John Kirkland, Jean Cram, David Reins, Ramona Haine and Edythe Radnowski.

The formal opening of the membership drive will be Nov. 27. All university students who are not members of a sorority and are interested in the Independent organization may join.

Noon record program attracts music lovers

Tomorrow will be Wagner day at the record program sponsored each Tuesday and Wednesday noon by Kappa Mu Lambda, announced Joann Mengedoht, president of the organization. "Ride of the Valkyries," "Siegfried Idyll" and "Tannhauser Overture" will be played in response to numerous requests for Wagnerian selections, she said.

More than 20 students and faculty members attended the program last Wednesday, and attendance is steadily growing, believe members of the music club. Selections are played in the order of their request.

"The Scheherazade," by Rimsky-Korsakov was played last week in response to many requests. The "Beethoven Fifth" has also been requested by many listeners, says Miss Elizabeth Kaho of the music department.

"We have a theme song, too," she added. "While the audience is filing into the music room, we leave the door open and play 'Prelude to the Meistersinger,' by Wagner. By now, people passing by and hearing the selection know that the music program is about to begin."

Students meet with Dr. John Stipp to organize debate club

Plans for organization of an Omaha university debating club were formulated Wednesday at a meeting of interested students. Dr. John Stipp, history professor, will coach the debaters.

Invitations to participate in the university were sent out to 21 students who expressed interest in college debating or were experienced high school debaters. However, any other interested debaters are requested to contact Dr. Stipp, said John W. Lucas, dean of students.

Debate will be strictly an extra-curricular activity. No credits will be given for participation, and all debaters must be regularly checked for eligibility.

Dr. Stipp is a veteran high school and college debate coach. Last year he was assistant debate coach at Ohio State university.

It is anticipated that if enough students show interest in the debate activity, Omaha university teams will see inter-collegiate action.

Who's Who in faculty victory gardens lists Sullenger at top

Dr. Sullenger holding one of the scalloped summer squash and a giant parsnip he raised in his garden this year.

T. Earl Sullenger, Ph. D., Squash, Sociology Prof., Broccoli, Parsnips, and Defender of The Angle Worm . . . Thus today reads the listing of many an Omaha university educator.

Their latest "degrees," conferred upon them this fall, are displayed in cases in front of the business and registrar's offices. Many members of the faculty were not satisfied with simply educating students. They devoted some of their educational talents to vegetables.

Largest number of victory garden products were harvested by Ace Farmer Sullenger. Other faculty members who challenged him for first place honors are Robert L. Mossholder, Charles Hoff, Harry F. Fore, Mrs. Gloria Sinnett, C. W. Prewett and Harry Rice.

One of the exhibition's Number One displays was a can of tomatoes not only grown, but also canned, by Fore. Mossholder's three varieties of pumpkins also drew their share of drool, and Gardener Sullenger's six kinds of squash amazed many.

Many other Omaha university faculty members had victory garden products earlier in the season. Dean John W. Lucas's "eat as you grow" agricultural policy prevented the display of his harvests, which included watermelons.

Students acclaim Freshman Frolics

Freshman Frolics of '48, presented Nov. 3 in the university auditorium by this year's freshman class, was packed with entertainment, declared students attending the program. The show played to a capacity audience.

William Cunningham started the show off with his piano numbers as the crowd filed into the auditorium. Following the introduction of class officers, Richard Johnson took over the master of ceremonies duties.

Lois Ann Baker won so much applause for her marimba solo, "Star Dust," that she was called back at the end of the program.

Gloria Rees, Beverly Bigelow, Charles Hayes and Charlotte Preston sang solo numbers, and Aileen Densmore, Janet Lindborg and Gail Phenev presented a trio selection.

Presenting instrumental solos were Elaine Comstock, Fred Dickson and Lois Ann Baker. Enola Ogdon and Betty Ann Brosch did tap numbers.

A pantomime, "The Lamp Went Out," was given by Mary Lou Stevens, Marisu Moredick, Marilyn Henderson, Gail Phenev, Marian Campen and Jeanne Finch. Wally Street and Bob Steiger concluded the show with a short skit on Super Suction Sweeper Service.

FREE MOVIES INAUGURATED

The first free movie sponsored by the Student Council was shown Friday, Nov. 24, in the student lounge.

The movie, "His Girl Friday," starred Cary Grant and Rosalind Russell. It was shown both from 12 noon to 1 p. m. and from 4 to 5 p. m. to enable more students to see it.

According to Edith Holmes, movie chairman, there will be more full-length free movies and news reels in the future.

The next movie, Dec. 6, will be a long newsreel feature.

WAA, Engineers hold Turkey Trot

A "Turkey Trot," sponsored by the WAA and the Engineers, was held in the auditorium Nov. 24, from 7:30 to 11:00 p. m.

WAA members and all the men in school were invited to see a variety show, play games and take part in a "People Are Funny" program. An intermission for cokes and dancing followed.

Mary Ellen Cabbage and John Bukacek were in charge of games, with Dorothy Mayhall, Lee Windhelm and Pat Smith managing the variety show. Agnes Stephenson and Charles Amidon directed the "radio show."

Sponsors for the event included Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kurtz, Dean and Mrs. John W. Lucas, Dean Mary Padou Young, Miss Enid Wolcott, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Steinhausen.

Sorority pledges combine to give Intersorority Pledge Dance Dec. 8

For the first time in the history of Omaha university, the five university sororities will combine their annual pledge dances into one Intersorority Pledge Dance to be held Dec. 8, at the Chermot ballroom.

Marisu Moredick of Sigma Chi Omicron was elected chairman of the dance committee. Other committee chairmen are Joan Hausen, of Gamma Sigma Omicron, music; Jean Leimbach of Phi Delta Psi, decorations; Patricia Smith of Pi Omega Pi, finances; and Donna Christenson of Kappa Psi Delta, intermission program.

Pledge groups of the sororities felt they could best combat war-time problems and expenses by having a joint dance in honor of their active members and alumni, said Miss Moredick. Plans for the program and entertainment will be kept secret until the night of the dance.

Admission is by Greek letter invitation card.

Cafeteria clean-up is urged by council

A campaign to awaken students to the idea that cafeteria dishes should be cleared away and the tables put back in their regular places is getting under way this week, according to Adele Pangle, president of the Student Council.

Campaign letters will be sent by the council to the sororities and placed on the cafeteria bulletin board to enlist the co-operation of the entire student body so that food prices will not have to be raised to cover the cost of hiring another person to clean up after students.

WHO'S WHO YOUR OPPORTUNITY IN S. A. E.

By ALEXANDER J. STODDARD
Superintendent of Schools, Philadelphia

In honor of his silver service anniversary, the St. Paul's Lutheran church will honor Eckhardt Scheer at a public reception on the evening of Nov. 26. Scheer began his studies in the evening school at the University of Omaha in 1932, receiving his bachelor of arts degree in 1936. He expects to have completed all the requirements for the master of arts degree by next June.

At the invitation of the Chicago Baptist Laymen's association, E. M. Hosman conducted an ushers' clinic at the Northern Baptist Seminary in that city Nov. 13. About 150 men, representing many of the Baptist churches in and around Chicago, attended.

Returning servicemen are beginning to make appearances in the School of Adult Education classes. Most recently registered are Phil Gleason, Robert Hosman and Ernest Wilson.

The School of Adult Education, in cooperation with the Tekamah Book club, is sponsoring a series of community book reviews in Tekamah at the Lyric theatre. Proceeds go to the Tekamah public library.

E. M. Hosman, director of the adult education division, has been asked to serve as associate editor of the Adult Education Bulletin of the National Education association.

Students and instructors in the School of Adult Education are urged to credit at least part of their 6th war loan purchases to the university. Evening students may leave their subscriptions with Miss Tvrdy in the business office.

Initial plans are under way for the 1945 Parent Education Institute. Mrs. M. N. Bivin, chairman

Adult Education means spending time doing things different from the usual routine, things from the doing of which come sheer fun and pleasure. To some people this may mean discussing current events, listening to recordings of great music, or still others might want to work with the hands, in wood, metal, clay, or on clothing.

Developing a hobby, or hobbies, will be of even greater value after the rush of war activities ends. Hours of employment may tend to decrease, creating greater leisure time for the vast majority of people. The man or woman with avocational interests will derive maximum enjoyment from leisure hours, and, in many instances, will have acquired skills and abilities that may be used vocationally, if necessary.

Relaxation and recreation are as essential to the well-being of out-of-school and teen-age youth, as of adults. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy,"—and Jill a dull girl—is as true today as when first spoken. The School of Adult Education affords a splendid opportunity for the younger members of the family, as well as the adults, to participate in a wide variety of recreational activities during the late afternoon and evening hours in a wholesome environment. The leaders of the activities are selected for their particular abilities that may be of service to you.

Whether adult or youth, you are a most important part of the schools. The S.A.E. exists to service you. Your interest, your eagerness to participate, your willingness to work, will determine the extent to which the schools can be of service to you.
